

Abstract of the Disclosure

Sub
A15 >

A method of acquiring program guide information in an image signal receiver, and program guide method and apparatus using the same, are provided.

=== claim 19. In the program guide apparatus, information immediately required

5 by a user is obtained first, and information of less preferential channels is obtained next, thus smoothing the interface with the user.